INTRODUCTION

Everything we use is sure to become someday and this is especially true for the fabrics we use. We wear clothes, use the bed covers and thus have to wash them on a regular basis. With repeated wash, the fabrics lose their color and strength and they become useless. You cannot wear a denim pant with holes at places or cannot use the T-shirt that has lost its colors or is having holes in places. Other garments like old sweaters, trash papers, old and useless books are sure to land up in the trash bin. This book will give you some striking ideas for converting the trash into real treasures. You just need to spend some of your creative power to make the magic happen. If you like the ideas and fall in love with these, it will not be a wonder that you will create the items for your own use and will also start a small side business to earn some extra money.
